"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

CUTICURA

DISFIGURING HUMORS, ITCHING TORTURES AND LOATHSOME SORES.

I have tried for eleven years to have my wife cured of a terrible skin disease. The CUTICURA REMEDIES (CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier internally, and CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally) have done in six weeks what I have tried for eleven years to have done. You shall have the particulars as soon as I can give them to you, and to all [illegible] of this county. It will benefit you, and the [illegible] will cure all who use them.

BLOTCHES CURED.

I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES for Blotches, and I am completely cured, to my inexpressible joy. CUTICURA SOAP is the best I have ever used, and to the professional man it is invaluable for cleansing the skin, thereby removing all traces of grease, paint, and all the stuff used by them, leaving the skin pure and white and soft. My greatest pleasure is in recommending such an article.

BAYARD SAYS KEILEY HAS DECLINED.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Secretary Bayard told a reporter to-night that A. M. Keiley has declined the Italian mission. Bayard would not, however, say whether or not Keiley would be asked to go to Russia in place of General Lawton.

GENERAL SHERIDAN'S POWER

Has he Authority to Exchange Regiments Without the Approval of Endicott?

WASHINGTON, April 28.—For a number of years rumors have been rife in the war department that an army order was forthcoming which when issued would create considerable surprise. While no authentic information is obtainable from officials, it is understood that an order is to be issued by the president that is to define the limit of the army. It was an open secret for months prior to Secretary Lincoln's retirement that a controversy existed between him and Lieutenant General Sheridan relative to the authority of the latter. The secretary of war finally wrote a letter to the lieutenant general in which he defined the latter's authority. It is asserted that General Sheridan has come into conflict with the new secretary of war in regard to the same questions [illegible] regiments to exchange stations by June 1. As the order was [illegible] by command of Lieutenant General Sheridan, it did not [illegible] the secretary of war [illegible] words with the approval of the secretary of war. Similar orders, as shown by the records, when issued by General Sherman [illegible] Secretary Lincoln.

THE ORDER IN QUESTION.

In the general order above referred to the [illegible] of artillery stationed at Washington was ordered to exchange with the third regiment of artillery stationed in the gulf states. Certain surgeons in the army have expressed themselves [illegible]. They say it will endanger the health of the unacclimated regiment and that the transfer would be especially dangerous because of the threatened sickly season in the south. They say further that the regiment now stationed in the south is acclimated and can remain there without danger. Officials say this is the first [illegible] of the kind issued in the spring of the year. [illegible] in Boston and it is expected that the order which promises the surprise will probably not be given out until his return to the department next Thursday.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS.

DINNER TO MINISTER PENDLETON.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Despite the inclemency of the weather to-night the complimentary dinner given at Delmonico's to Minister George H. Pendleton by the civil service reformers was largely attended. The main dining room was elaborately festooned and draped with American flags, and baskets of flowers were scattered at intervals [illegible] the raised table at which the president, George William Curtis and other distinguished people were seated. Mr. Pendleton sat at Mr. Curtis' right as the guest of the evening, and beyond him on the same side were Mr. Evarts, Hon. Wayne McVeigh and others.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Mr. Curtis rapped for order and jocosely opened his address by saying that this assemblage is a pleasant congregation of impracticable visionaries, amiable sentimentalists, harmless theorists and political lunatics, who have come to make public atonement for their supposed follies and mistakes by offering a sincere tribute of respect to that American statesman who [illegible] his name with the least romantic of [illegible], reform of the civil service. We have [illegible] this occasion to offer [illegible] of the highest government office within our honor [illegible] because that gentleman as senator of the United States and [illegible] distinguished leader of a political party has declared in the senate that he believed the spoils system was a great crime.

Letters of regret were received from Postmaster General W. F. Vilas, Hon. Horatio Seymour, Right Rev. H. C. Potter, Minister E. J. Phelps, Hon. S. S. Cox, Attorney General Dennis O'Brien, Charles J. Bonaparte, Gov. Thompson of South Carolina, President White of Cornell university, Samuel J. Tilden, Governor Hill, Governor Abbett, Generals McClellan and Hancock, Judge Blatchford and others. Hon. William M. Evarts responded to the toast "The Senate of the United States," [illegible]. "The Spirit of Reform" was answered by Hon. Wayne McVeagh, president of the Philadelphia reform association. Other toasts were responded to by Carl Schurz, Hon. William Dorsheimer, Sherman [illegible] Rogers and George William Curtis. Mr. Pendleton will sail Saturday for Bremen.

GENERAL GRANT'S CONDITION.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Dr. Douglas yesterday felt some anxiety lest General Grant should become excessively weary with the undue excitement attending his birthday, but when the physician left this morning he said the general was as well as yesterday and that he is [illegible] gaining strength.

Baldwin yesterday shipped for the eastern races Lucy B, [illegible] and [illegible] five two-year-olds, Fallen Leaf and [illegible]; four-year-olds Brandywine, Verano, Volante, Rapido, Mission Belle and Mira; three-year-olds Solid Silver, Silver Cloud, [illegible], Molly McCarthy's Last, Estrella, [illegible], Bonita, Santa Anita Belle, [illegible]. The stable is [illegible] Louisville, Latonia, St. Louis, Chicago and Coney Island.

CALIFORNIA CROPS.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—The Chronicle's crop reports from all parts of the state show that in the [illegible] the grain yield will be only one quarter to three quarters of the last year's yield. This is largely due to decreased acreage. The fruit districts report largely increased acreage and promising crops. What is lost in grain will be made up in fruit and wine.

DEATH OF A MERCHANT.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—John Deane, member of the dry goods firm of Murphy, Grant & Co., died late last night at his residence at Claremont, Alameda county. In the morning he was seized with a fit of vomiting, followed by a slight hemorrhage. These occurred several times, and he sank rapidly. He leaves a wife and five small children.

[illegible] EAST.

Madam [illegible], widow of the late President [illegible] party, consisting of twenty persons, went east to-day over the Central Pacific railroad in the private car of Charles Crocker.

Weather indications: North and middle Pacific, partly cloudy and light local rains; south Pacific, fair.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

NEWS ITEMS FROM VICTORIA.

VICTORIA, April 28.—The steamship George W. Elder, which was detained by head winds, arrived at an early hour this morning.

William Neilson of [illegible] fame, was a passenger by the George W. Elder, and will remain some time.

Citizens are gathered in groups discussing the war news, and a petition is in circulation asking the mayor to call a public meeting to devise means for the protection of the place and the arming of the inhabitants.

VICTORIA, B. C., April 28.—A Russian, who visited Victoria and [illegible] about a month ago under pretence of buying furs, is now known to have been a Russian spy who took drawings of our fortifications and harbors. He went from here to San Francisco.

Weather clear; wind northerly.

It is rumored that the disabled steamship Umatilla, property of the Oregon Steamship Company, which is being raised by Lloyd's agent, [illegible] Esquimalt harbor, will be sold to the imperial government and be repaired and fitted up as a cruiser for the protection of British shipping in the north Pacific.

A STRANGE STEAMER SIGHTED.

VICTORIA, April 28.—The steamship G. W. Elder reports seeing a strange steamer in the straits this morning. She was lying well over on the American side near the Dungeness light, which is about [illegible] miles from Victoria. Although the suspicious craft is believed to be an American tug, [illegible] report creates much comment in view of the want of proper protection for this port.

COPENHAGEN, April 28.—The military reserves of Denmark are being mobilized in expectation of the necessity of preserving Danish neutrality by force.

GLADSTONE'S AMBITION.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The Sun's London special says: It is just twenty days since the massacre on the Kushk and the capture of Penjdeh became known in London. The softening touch of time has done wonders, as Gladstone knew it would. It is undeniable that Gladstone believes that England's only chance of peace lies in gaining time. The premier's constant dream just now, and his highest present ambition, is to retire in a blaze of glory after having finally and peacefully settled the central Asian question.

A FRANCO-RUSSIAN ALLIANCE PROBABLE.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The Herald's cable special from St. Petersburg says: The break in diplomatic relations between France and Egypt is being utilized as basis for a Franco-Russian alliance, which is now warmly favored by the czar. Active negotiations are being interchanged by St. Petersburg and Paris with the object of vigorous common action against England. It is claimed that a Franco-Russian alliance against England would not be in violation of the treaty entered into by the czar last year at Skierniewice.

THE SITUATION AT PANAMA.

The Government Forces Arrive but the Rebels Still Hold the City.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The following news has been received from Panama: On the morning of the 18th inst. the Pacific Mail steamer City of Para arrived at Aspinwall from New York with the first battalion of United States marines. Colonel Heywood, the commanding officer, immediately proceeded to the United States steamer Tennessee, flagship of the north Atlantic squadron, for conference with Rear Admiral Jouett, who had arrived the day before from New Orleans via Pensacola, where he called to embark marines at that naval station under command of Captain Robert L. Meade. George A. Burt, superintendent of the Panama railway, was invited to this conference. It was promptly determined informally to reopen transit at once. Orders were given for the marines to be landed and formed on the dock of the steamship company at noon in heavy marching order, with forty rounds of ammunition each, prepared to [illegible] a special train at 1 o'clock for Panama. Passengers, excepting a few destined for south Pacific ports, were directed to remain on the steamer, and commanding officers of men-of-war in harbor were ordered to furnish Colonel Heywood with Gatling and Hotchkiss guns and fifty sailors to accompany the battalion. Two trains, the first consisting of [illegible] mail and baggage car, six passenger and two [illegible] armored cars [illegible] either end, and the second of the paymaster's car, two cabooses, two platform and three box cars were made up and at 3 moved off amid the cheers of the great crowd of people of all colors and nationalities, largely of [illegible] races, and the strains of martial music furnished by the band of the flagship Tennessee, which accompanied Admiral Jouett, who reviewed the expedition from the balcony of the office of the steamship company.

THE JOURNEY WITHOUT INCIDENT.

The marines entered the train in the order of their battalion so they would get out and form a line of battle on either side of the train at the slightest warning and with the least possible delay. The few [illegible] permitted to go were placed in the [illegible]. The second train was guarded by details of marines from the North Atlantic squadron [illegible]. Captain Meade's company was left at Matachin to preserve order and [illegible] the line there. Matachin is the highest [illegible] important station on the road, and is the [illegible] Sundays particularly a very disorderly population. Both trains cautiously continued the transit, expecting to find the track removed or bridges destroyed near Panama. Nothing, however, occurred to delay them, and at 6 o'clock the force arrived safely at Panama and immediately bivouacked in an immense warehouse, where they spent the night. A complete cordon of sentinels was established around the property of the Panama Railroad Company, the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and the International Canal Company. Twenty sentinels constituted the cordon, and the daily guard mount consists of one captain, two lieutenants, two sergeants, six corporals and sixty privates.

THE COMMANDER'S ORDERS.

The [illegible] in fact the whole command have strict orders not to interfere with political or [illegible] and are not allowed to leave the limits of their camp, which has been christened Camp Jouett. Under three conditions their orders require them to shoot. These are: In the event of any one attempting to set fire to property they guard, in case [illegible] prisoner, or person [illegible] attempts to escape, and last in self defense should they be assaulted with [illegible]. The isthmus is patrolled daily [illegible] by [illegible] guards, composed of ten enlisted men under command of an officer, and frequently by an armored car, with three guns and a crew of blue jackets added to the guard. The large mixed and rough population making a long line often give the conductors much trouble, especially after pay day. There are in all 527 marines and [illegible] marine officers now on the isthmus, and 2000 more, with six officers, belonging to the ships of the North Atlantic and Pacific stations, who could be instantly landed.

NATIONAL TROOPS ARRIVE.

PANAMA, VIA GALVESTON, April 28.—[illegible], messenger of the diplomatic corps of Bogota, arrived at Panama this morning with national troops, who consist chiefly of volunteers from Cauca under command of Montoya, who has sent Aizpuru notice to leave the city in forty-eight hours. Aizpuru now says he will fight. If he does not evacuate the city, the national troops will try to dislodge him, and unless the United States troops interfere the city will stand a poor chance. If Aizpuru remains in the city the struggle will be indefinitely prolonged.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The navy department received information this afternoon of the arrival of Colombian national forces off Panama.

NOTES FROM PANAMA.

PANAMA, via Galveston, April 28, 10 A. M.—An American [illegible] captured by rebels some time ago was brought to Colon yesterday by the Alliance, having on board the rebel general Benjamin Ruiz and sixty men.

At Paraiso yesterday afternoon a riot occurred between resident Jamaicans and Colombians. Three of the latter were killed and seventeen wounded. A company of marines under Captain [illegible] have gone there to keep order. Paraiso is about nine miles from Panama.

The natives are very uncertain through the interior and may attempt to stop transit. A detachment of marines from the Tennessee, Galena, Alliance and Swatara returned to their respective ships at Colon yesterday.

FIRING HEARD.

BUENA VENTURA, April 28.—Yesterday afternoon the firing of guns was heard at Cali, near Buena Ventura. It is rumored that an insurrection has again broken out there.

General Louis Eugene [illegible] Pajol, who was aide-de-camp to Napoleon III, is dead in his 72d year.

Admiral Schwartz, commander of the Russian navy at Cronstadt, has been appointed commander of the Cronstadt garrison.

Rudolph Eitelberger von Edelberg, professor of esthetics in the University of Vienna, died April [illegible]. He was born in 1817 at Olmutz.

Richard Ansdell, R. A., is dead at the age of 70 years. He was in his early days celebrated as a painter of animals and field sport scenes.

The death of Cardinal Pietro Lasagni is announced. He was an Italian and was born in 1814. He was nominated to be a cardinal in 1880.

The Nova Scotia estimates for the current year have been presented in the house of assembly. The revenue is estimated at [illegible] and the expenditure at [illegible].

It is reported that natives of the Hermit Islands in the Pacific ocean have eaten the crews of two German merchant vessels. The gunboat Hyaena has been sent to punish the cannibals.

Lieutenant Charles H. Judd, who was at Colon when that place was burned some days ago, and became suddenly deranged mentally, has been placed in an insane asylum at New York.

Jacob Bernstein, banker of Konigsberg, Germany, has failed. His liabilities are placed at $1,600,000; his assets are small. Bernstein's Berlin correspondents and customers are heavy losers by his failure.

Arabs recently attacked the Turkish troops engaged in constructing a telegraph line between Tayf and Mecca. Several of the soldiers were killed. Turkey has since subsidized the Arabs to protect and maintain the line.

Sweden has determined to remain neutral in the event of war between England and Russia, and will prevent England establishing a coaling station on the island of Gottland. The king of Sweden, who has been making a tour of Europe, has started upon his return to his own country.

Owing to the long continued illness of Receiver Gorringe of the American Ship Building Company at Port Richmond the creditors applied several days ago for a new receiver, and John W. Hoffman has been appointed to that position. No work has been done at the shipyard of the company since last January.

A ripple of sensation occurred at Norfolk, Va., a few days ago by the arrival of the Russian corvette [illegible], Captain N. [illegible], 150 men and ten guns, followed by the British cruiser Garnett, Captain Henry Hand, 250 men and twelve guns. The Russian came from Havana and the English ship from Vera Cruz. They anchored within a few hundred yards of each other, and the impression prevails that the Englishman is watching the Russian. They saluted Commodore Truxton's flag and the frigate Franklin responded.

Lieutenant Schuetze will take with him a gold medal to present to Vasili Bobrowsky, alias Vasili [illegible] (One-Eared Bill), when he leaves to distribute rewards to the natives in the vicinity of the Lena river who aided in discovering De Long's party. The native to be honored with the medal discovered the party in charge of Melville. The medal is about the size of a silver dollar and contains on one side the words, "Presented by the President of the United States." On the other side the name of the recipient will be inscribed.

POLITICAL EXPRESSION.

Secretary Bayard is replacing much of the republican fungus in the state department with fine old democratic moss.—Milwaukee Journal.

It seems that the president, in spite of all his care, is occasionally betrayed into the making of an appointment which looks very much like a reward for personal services.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A disposition is manifested among the Ohio republicans to let the democrats take the field first this year. This the Cincinnati Commercial claims is their duty as the official party of the state and nation.

Civil service reform is a good thing, but the administration does not want to run it into the ground. A little common sense is needed and not so much transcendental foolishness.—Cleveland Plaindealer (Dem.)

The democrats of Iowa will hold an early state convention, declare strongly in favor of the repeal of the prohibitory law, and if the federal patronage is distributed in time to help, hope to carry the state next November.

Louisville Commercial: The woman who discovered that [illegible] words could be formed with the letters in "incomprehensibility" no doubt counted them in some Kentucky man's speech made after he had called on the President.

The hardest task of the southern democratic editors these days is to frame excuses for Mr. Cleveland's slowness in turning out the federal officials in that section, and so keeping the hungry democrats from breaking out into open rebellion.

Indianapolis Times: Vice President Hendricks has, it is said, accepted an invitation to visit the historic field of Gettysburg May 4. We advise him to be cautious lest the leg of Colonel Dudley, which is buried there, rise up and kick him for his hypocrisy in visiting a place so dear to union soldiers.

SOCIAL INSURANCE.

A long pending wrangle in the courts of Iowa involving the legal status and obligations of mutual benefit associations has just been ended by a decision from the supreme court that the order of United Workmen is primarily an insurance corporation and as such is strictly subject to the laws of the state governing insurance. The supreme lodge of Workmen, located in Kentucky, several years ago made assessments on the grand lodge of Iowa to pay death losses in Indiana and other states. This the Iowa lodge refused to do on the ground that in its insurance features it was a state corporation, and thereupon the supreme lodge suspended it and proceeded to organize another grand lodge in Iowa. Some of the members of the old lodge seceded and formed a nucleus for the new organization. They held that the organization was primarily fraternal in character, and that they were properly subject to the control of the supreme lodge. Suit was brought to test the questions at issue between the old and new lodges, and in the lower court it was held that the association was fraternal in character and its insurance features subsidiary. The authority of the supreme lodge was fully sustained. In the supreme court this ruling has been reversed, and it is declared that in law the order is a mutual benefit insurance corporation with its social and fraternal features as merely auxiliary. It is held amenable to the laws of the state and not to the supreme lodge in Kentucky, which is a corporation not organized under the laws of Iowa and has no right to do business in that state.

This fixes the status of not only the workingmen, but of all the various other similar organizations of which mutual insurance is a leading feature, as insurance companies, and puts them everywhere under the laws of the state in which they may happen to do business. The wisdom of this decision, in which every member of the Iowa supreme bench joined, is easily seen. Business, whether conducted by a business or a social corporation, is still business, and the law must regard the same in either case. To distinguish between the insurance business of the Workmen for example and the similar business of an ordinary insurance company would open the door for fraud under cover of social and fraternal pretences.

INVESTIGATIONS OF SPIRITUALISM.

About two years ago a wealthy Philadelphian who was interested in spiritualism and had studied it for himself without satisfactory results, gave $60,000 to maintain the "Adams Seybert chair" of moral and intellectual philosophy in the university of Pennsylvania, with the condition that the incumbent of the chair should either by himself or with a commission make a "thorough and impartial investigation of all systems of morals, religion and philosophy which assumes to represent the truth, and particularly of modern spiritualism." The commission is made up of Professor W P Pepper, president, Rev G S Fullerton, secretary, and Professors Horace Howard Furness, Joseph Leidy and R. E. Thompson, Dr August Koenig and Coleman Sellers, and it is stated that they will soon publish a report of their two years' labor, which will show that they can explain most of the phenomena of spiritualism by natural means.

There has lately been organized in Boston an American society for physical research, which proposes to do what the Seybert commission have been doing, asking the help of such mediums, professional or private, "as shall be willing to demonstrate to us experimentally their possession of peculiar powers." The chairman of this committee is Professor William James of the Harvard faculty, "and all the members of the committee are gentlemen of such reputation for attainments and character," says the Boston Advertiser, "that confidence will be given to their conclusions."

There is also in London a society of the same name under the presidency of Professor Sidgwick, and with Professors Barrett, Balfour Stewart and Dr Goodwin bishop of Carlisle, among its investigators.

These investigations are inspired with no feeling of hostility toward those who sincerely believe in their powers of communication with the spirit world. They are only intent upon finding out what lies behind all the strange things of spiritualism, and only ask for honest evidence upon which to base their conclusions. They have no mercy toward impostors, but give honest spiritualists every opportunity to prove the reality of their claims. It is to be hoped that the result of these investigations will be so clear and convincing as to satisfy all who are interested in a subject which has for many people a strange fascination. There is a host of kindred hallucinations, the "mind cure," which is said to be accomplishing such wonders of healing, and the "Christian Science," which is scarcely less wonderful in its revelation of hidden things, upon which some satisfactory light may be thrown by these investigations. The country is overrun with the apostles of these modern adaptations of spiritualism. Almost every day we see reports of miracles attributed to these "sciences." We have a decided opinion of our own in regard to them, and yet we are glad that responsible and scientific observers are studying the subject, and are going to give their conclusions to the world.

WOMEN IN THE FEDERAL SERVICE.

One of the most valuable and important features of the free competitive system, in regulating appointments to federal offices, is that which secures to women a fair and equal chance with men in obtaining places in the government service. Under the old system women were often crowded out of positions which they were perfectly well qualified to fill, in order to give the places to men who had made themselves useful at the polls. The system of competitive examinations rigidly enforced places them on the same plane with men and prevents discrimination against them on account of political considerations. In their second annual report the civil service commissioners state that "the civil-service law makes no distinction on account of sex. The examinations under it are open alike to men and women, and if in the long run any inequality shall be found in the numbers appointed to the service, such inequality will arise from the needs and conditions of the service itself and not from any provisions of the civil service rules or [illegible] of the commission."

The report also shows that in many cases women have shown eminent fitness for the places they have held and high qualities in their work, but, it is added, the determination of the question whether a woman or a man shall be selected to fill any given vacancy must be left under the law, as it existed before the civil service act, to the appointing officer, who alone knows the conditions and who is responsible for the successful administration of his office." Women are eligible to clerkships ranging in value from $900 to $1,800 per annum, but even after passing the ordeal of the competitive examination their appointment to particular places depends on the opinion of the appointing power as to whether it would be judicious to assign women to those places.

The Washington correspondent of the [illegible] says: "The majority of the women in government employ are very quiet, matter of fact, and are thorough experts in the lines of business where they are employed. They make good typewriters, shorthand writers and copyists. The most expert counters of money in the treasury are women. As detecters of counterfeit money some of the ladies in the national redemption division of the treasury have no equals."

The prompt manner in which the house of commons voted the credit of £11,000,000 asked for by Mr Gladstone on Monday, indicates the feeling of the English people in regard to the present policy. Despite the wide-spread distrust and condemnation of his Soudan policy, in the present difficulty he evidently has the nation at his back. It is also evident that Mr Gladstone, while not betraying undue haste in his measures, is determined to make every movement thorough, and when war does come, will find England ready to prosecute it with a vigor that will astonish its enemies. As yet Mr. Gladstone has exposed but little of his hand. The evacuation of the Soudan ordered yesterday, is the first move of importance throwing light on his intentions. These troops will probably be mobilized into an army corps in lower Egypt at once, and held in readiness for active work in the new war at the most convenient point. It is apparent from this move that the premier expects war, and by meeting it firmly and prosecuting it decisively, will recover whatever prestige he may have lost by the unfortunate campaign in the Soudan.

THE VIRGINIA STATE DEBT.

The United States supreme court has decided in favor of the Virginia bondholders in suits involving the validity of recent legislation in that state relating to its public debt, making the coupons of state bonds receivable for taxes. The state of Virginia, by the McCulloch debt settlement of 1878, refunded her debt in consolidated bonds, the interest of which was made payable in coupons receivable for state taxes. Thus the creditor had a clear contract from the state that whenever it failed to pay the coupons it would at least accept them for taxes. This settlement gave rise to the popular agitation for a "readjustment," the readjuster party swept the state, and their legislature without openly repudiating the McCulloch agreement sought to nullify it by laws requiring that whenever coupons of the consols were presented to tax collectors in payment of taxes, such collectors should refuse to accept them until the holders thereof had proven their validity by a suit in court. This was a virtual denial of justice. Nevertheless the supreme court of the United States made a decision two years ago giving quasi support to this legislation.

Now the court holds that all the legislation of the state which attempts to evade the obligation under which it rests to receive the coupons of its bonds in payment of its state taxes is unconstitutional and void, because it impairs the obligation of a contract; that the tax payer, having once made a due tender of coupons in payment of his taxes, is under no obligation to pay such taxes in money, but may rest securely upon his right to have the coupons received when offered, and that a tax collector who attempts thereafter to forcibly collect such taxes by levying upon the tax-payer's property is not shielded by the legislation of the state, but makes the attempt at his personal peril. The court holds furthermore that a suit brought against a tax collector for seizure of a tax-payer's property after due tender of coupons is not a suit against the state, but is a suit against an individual trespasser, acting without the legal authority of the state.

A strong dissenting opinion was delivered, in which Chief Justice Waite and Justices Bradley, Gray and Miller concurred, declaring that the suit in question was essentially a suit against the state, which, under the eleventh amendment, could not be maintained. They were overruled, however, by the majority of the judges, and Virginia repudiation, in the guise of a "readjustment" of the debt, is declared to be illegal and void.

An interesting point in the dissenting opinion is that an amendment to the constitution operates as an amendment of every part of the constitution to which it is at any time found to be repugnant. It is the last declared will of the lawmakers, and has paramount force and effect. If the contract clause and the eleventh amendment, for example, come into conflict, the latter has paramount force. The legislation which is thus declared void constituted the issue on which the Mahone party came into power. It now would greatly improve the standing of Virginia among the states if her people accept this decision in good faith, and abandon all future attempts to evade paying a just debt, or a debt of which at least two-thirds is justly due from the state, and which the state is abundantly able to pay.

GERMANISM.

In two recent articles in a Berlin periodical, the learned Von Hartmann has declared that Germanism, as an expansive force, is practically dead, except in the Tyrol and certain strong German groups of Moldavia and the Danubian provinces, and that Poland and the Sclavonic provinces have resisted Germanization so strongly that the result is dangerous to the integrity of the empire. He attributes the situation to the growth of national sentiment among the Slavs and the Magyars, and the lack of patriotic feeling among the poorer classes of Germans, who are so ground by poverty that their only thought is how to better their condition. The first mentioned cause is undoubtedly powerful in staying the advance of German influence. The national feeling among the Slavs is becoming stronger with years, while the Magyars are achieving, in the Austrian empire, the dominant position formerly held by the Austrian people. But if there is a seeming lack of patriotism among the lower order of Germans, it is probably more apparent than real, and it does not follow that they love their native land the less because they do not love its despotic government and iron military institutions. At the same time, it must be manifest to the casual observer that the Germans are not a race whose language or whose customs are readily grafted upon other races. To the Anglo-Saxon they are closely akin, and that is probably the reason that they get along so well in America, but where they meet the French, as in Lorraine, the Slavs in the northeastern provinces of Germany, and the Magyars in Hungary, there is no amalgamation. Germany may conquer and hold, but she has not the faculty of conciliating or absorbing the conquered. Bismarck has wholly failed to Germanize Alsace and Lorraine. A solid front is consistently maintained in those provinces against every thing German. While the German yoke is borne with patience the people still cling to the hope of rejoining France.

Mr Samuel Wilkeson, secretary of the Northern Pacific railroad company, has furnished an article for the New York Sun which that paper publishes as an editorial, on the extermination of large game on the plains and among the mountains of the west. It is a vigorous protest against the conduct of sporting Englishmen and Atlantic coast club men, many of whom hunt like dudes and murder like cowards, merely for the brutal fun of it. They shoot down buffalo, bear, elk, mountain sheep, deer and antelope with their rifles of long range—shoot them out of mere wantonness in many cases, not even stripping the carcasses of their hides—and then go back to their [illegible] boasting of their achievements. We don't want any of these hunters in our forests or mountains. The worst offenders in this way are parties of English snobs though the American butchers of our larger game are bad enough to entitle them to entire condemnation. This senseless and insatiable desire to kill cannot be too strongly reprehended. It is mere brutality. Mr Wilkeson tells of a young millionaire from Brooklyn who last year slaughtered in the mountains of Wyoming thirteen bears, which he had caught in huge steel traps, and bravely followed and shot as they were struggling to get away, and he presents a lively picture of the millionaire cad following those bloody trails with the affectation of dauntless courage.

A New York court has decided that a passenger traveling on a free pass, becomes a paying passenger for whose injury the railroad is liable by paying for the privilege of riding in a drawing room car. It was contended that under such circumstances the drawing room car company, and not the railroad company, was liable, but to this the court replied: "We know nothing of the arrangement between the defendant and the car company, but just as one without knowledge of the [illegible] can run cars upon its track we must assume that the drawing room cars are run with [illegible] defendant."

Business depression in the [illegible] is very severe. All the reports [illegible] of the annual output [illegible] of probably two million tons [illegible] million tons less pig iron smelted and nearly half a million tons less iron puddled in steel, being a decrease of more than a quarter of a million tons, the greatest decrease in the history of the trade, while the production of steel rails has fallen over 312,000 tons, and in iron and steel shipbuilding a decrease of nearly 450,000 tons in the seven principal ports of the kingdom. Such, in brief, as pointed out by Robert P. Porter, in a letter from England to the Philadelphia Press, are the changes which have taken place in the iron, coal, steel and ship-building interests of that country during the past year. In America there has been nothing comparable with this.

News dispatches contain occasional items relating to the mysterious movements of Russian and British war vessels at various ports throughout the world, and indicate a desire on the part of each to watch the other's movements. Should a Russian corvette leave a port suddenly, a British gunboat follows close upon its heels. It is likely when war does break out there will be a general fusilade all over the globe wherever British and Russians meet, and in the present condition of naval armament it will be watched for with interest by the entire world.

Our neighbors at Victoria are much exercised over the discovery that a Russian gentleman, who had been there some time, ostensibly with the object of buying furs, was really a Russian spy securing plans of the fortifications and harbor for use by his government in case of war between England and that country. It is barely possible an attempt may be made to destroy British property at Victoria, but a few men-of-war outside the harbor would make it exceedingly difficult of accomplishment.

---

Miss Frances Willard does not strengthen her hold upon the confidence of sensible people by claiming that a divine revelation calls her to work for the political advancement of women. Divine revelations are getting to be very common, and where they are honestly accepted as such we may be pretty sure there is intellectual machinery out of order. As the Springfield Republican expresses it, they regard it as a settled fact "that God stopped revealing anything over 1800 years ago."

---

Mr Evarts, in a speech at Boston the other day, said: "In 1888 there will be no talk among republicans about repugnance to any candidate, comparatively few people will be shouting for the prohibition nominee, and the republican party will make its fight in the perfect faith that victory is ahead." Possibly all this may be doubtful or possibly Mr Evarts has a political telescope of very long range.

CANADIAN PACIFIC R. R.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

For some unaccountable reason false reports continue to circulate against the Canadian Pacific Railroad, the latest being the following from your issue of this morning:

Big strike on the Canadian Pacific.

Victoria, April 14.—Reports from the interior state that 5000 employes of the Canadian Pacific Railway have gone on a strike, on account of not receiving their wages.

This was the cause of a large number of men refusing to proceed to the road this morning. I telegraphed to Mr. Onderdonk asking if it was true. The following is his reply:

Yale, April 15—8:45 P. M.—R. D. Pitt, Portland: No strike whatever. Report utterly without foundation. A. ONDERDONK.

I have only to repeat that every man sent from this office is sure of work at fair wages, good accommodations and cash payments every month. R. D. PITT.

Since the publication of the above the following has been received:

Yale, B. C., April 15.

R. D. Pitt, Esq., Portland, Or.—Dear Sir: In reply to your wire of this date I immediately wired, "No strike whatever, the report utterly without foundation." I understand there is a strike or some trouble on the eastern end of this road, east of the Rocky Mountains; but you know that work is "entirely distinct" from mine. Send me rockmen and laborers.

Yours truly, A. ONDERDONK.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

GUYING A TOURIST.—On the Pacific express which arrived yesterday there was an English "globe trotter"—the sort of a man who gets into the cars at New York, stops one day in Chicago, comes through to the Pacific coast, stays three days, returns straight to New York and then writes a history of the United States. The train halted at Multnomah Falls as usual, and the distinguished tourist stood at the side of the track, gazing intently at the leaping waters through his marine glasses. Conductor Ed. Lyon, who never loses an opportunity to perpetrate a joke, got two or three of his friends and stood behind the globe trotter. Lyon remarked to the boys in a confidential way, but loud enough for the tourist to hear "I'll have to report that gate-keeper to the superintendent. Yesterday morning when we came up the forgot to open the gates, and when we stopped the passengers looked in vain for the falls. I whistled for him nearly five minutes, but he didn't come, and we had to pull out. Several passengers were awfully ... pointed, and some of them expressed their opinion of a road that didn't live up to its advertisements." The tourist took in the conversation, and after the train had started toward Portland, questioned Lyon relative to the arrangements for damming the water. He received a wonderful explanation, which he carefully noted, and probably by this time has written a fine chapter on American ingenuity.

FINED WITH A FINE.—Yesterday Joe Perry, the dive keeper, and Steve Gregory his bar keeper pleaded guilty to assault and battery before Justice Freeman and were fined $10 each. James Marshall, the complaining witness in the case, met with a like fate. This disposition of the case is only another evidence that saloon keepers—that is to say, keepers of low down gin mills—are in no danger of being punished by the law. Marshall was struck over the head with a beer bottle and was shot at in Perry's hell hole, and some one committed the acts which would send the ordinary citizen to the penitentiary. Marshall was, of course, induced to withdraw his original charge, and wanted all prosecution dropped, hence the assistant district attorney dismissed the charges of felony. Two weeks ago a young man broke into a window and stole a few dollars' worth of goods not a hundred feet from Perry's saloon. He had no ill gotten money and no political influence, and he got three years in the penitentiary, which was right. He deserved punishment. But it does seem that attempting to break a man's skull and then trying to shoot a hole through him ought to merit greater punishment than the payment of $30. A special providence appears to guard the worst class of law-breakers in Portland.

POLICE COURT.—A stout, middle-aged man, John Doolittle by name, and evidently a Doolittle by nature, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunk and disorderly and was fined $10. He will pay it by Dooinglittle around the city jail for five days. A little girl, named Annie Arnette, was arraigned on a charge of abusive and obscene language. The family live out beyond the cricket ground, and, judging from the number of complaints coming in from that vicinity, they are not desirable neighbors. So many complaints have been made that at last Judge Moreland determined to investigate the matter, and a policeman was sent out yesterday to bring in Mrs Arnette and her daughter. The woman threw herself on the floor and told the officer to take her. As he had no wagon, he concluded to leave her, but took along the girl, about 12 years of age. The father appeared, but was not ready for the trial, and was not able to put up bail. The judge was determined to hold the prisoner, who was sent below, where her moaning and crying made all present feel uncomfortable. At length a young lawyer, who has a tender heart toward all females, put up $10 bail, and the girl went off with her father, who promised to produce the girl and her mother in court to-day.

NEARLY OVER A PRECIPICE.—T. T. Drennan of East Portland, went out on the hills back of the stone quarry at the head of Fifth street, yesterday, to work, but not feeling well started for home. As he came down the hillside south of the quarry, he saw a child playing along the steep sidehill above the quarry, where a misstep would have sent it rolling over a cliff about a hundred feet high. He took his station at the foot of the bluff to try and catch the little one if it fell, and a woman from a house near by went around up the steep sidehill to get the child. While the woman was going up a breeze lifted the child's hat and blew it over the cliff. The little one started for the crumbling edge to look after its hat, and Drennan shouted to scare it back, but it took no heed of him. The woman seeing the danger hurried frantically toward the child and grasped it just at the edge of the bluff, her weight breaking away a lot of dirt and loose rock, which went thundering down to the rocks below. The child had strayed away from some where, but no one around the place knew it. That rocky cliff, topped by the steep sidehill, will be the scene of a fearful accident some day.

GETTING A LONG WELL.—Mr Corbett, who has the contract for boring an artesian well on one of W. S. Ladd's farms is, as the minstrels say, getting a long well. He first bored through earth, sand and gravel about 220 feet, then through solid rock 150 feet, then through a deposit of silt, just forming into rock, 285 feet thick, then through a stratum of sand 40 feet thick, then through a streak of gravel five feet thick, when he struck another deposit of silt the same as the one mentioned above. In this soft rock, 725 feet below the surface, the drill struck a big fir log. This is now being cut up and brought to the surface and used to make steam. It is just a little more expensive to go below the surface so far for fir, when there is plenty above ground which is dryer, but as it was there it had to come out. The next thing wanted is to find the man who chopped that tree. The sacred soil of Oregon has never before been penetrated so far, and the work on this well is watched with much interest by geologists, as well as by all who are interested in the water supply.

BLUE BIRDS NESTING.—A short time since J. K. Phillips, who resides in East Portland, noticed that a pair of blue birds had filed a homestead claim on a box which he had put up for the reception of his mail. Another box was at once put up for the mail and the birds left in undisputed possession, the family of Mr Phillips taking every pains to make the little settlers at their ease and preserve them from molestation. They have become very much at home on the premises and fly in through the windows of the house to seek materials for their nest in the shape of bits of cloth, cotton, etc. In a bedroom up stairs they found a box of hair combings, which they appropriated to line their nest, and they have now a very comfortable home of their own. Miss Phillips will take a great interest in these birds, who "nest in her soft silken hair," and will have to learn a song which the Portland favorites of a dozen years ago, the Pixley sisters, used to sing, which commenced thusly

"Minnie hear the little bird sing,
In the tree above our heads."

SOME TROUBLE ABOUT TRAVELLING.—The restrict on act in force here and the feeling in favor of ... in British Columbia, renders traveling between the two countries rather difficult for Chinamen. The trip to Victoria was, however, successfully made this week by Sid Back, a Chinese merchant of this city, who went over there to endeavor to secure a contract for Chinese labor on the Canadian Pacific railroad. Armed with a bundle of letters of recommendation from business men here, he succeeded in crossing the line, accompanied by his little son, Yin Back. They had a very pleasant visit in Victoria and made arrangements for securing a contract for labor. On their return an official at Port Townsend, who had not seen them while going over, had an idea that Sid Back was trying to smuggle in his son, and he began to fear that he would lose the heir to his name and fortune. But he soon succeeded in satisfying the authorities that Yin was a Portlander by birth and well known here, and father and son arrived home safely yesterday afternoon.

FOUND THE GOODS IN THE CELLAR.—A. J. Brandenstein and S. L. Goldberg, composing the firm of A. J. Brandenstein & Co., of San Francisco, began suit yesterday in the United States circuit court against John Bigne and S. A. Nahon, to recover the sum of $1500, alleged to be due upon a certain joint promissory note. To secure the same, pending the result of the action, Deputy Marshal Charley Frush went down town to levy on Nahon's cigar store. The outlook at this place was rather discouraging as the stock was much depleted and but little appeared to satisfy the claims of the creditors. However, in prowling about the place Frush found a way through a little back room to a cellar. This he investigated and there found stored away a large amount of property, consisting mainly of fine cigars and liquors. These he took into his custody, and having appointed a keeper now feels satisfied that he will have something to ... with the plaintiffs if they win their case.

AN ARTISTIC WRITER.—Mrs Jessie Thompson, whose skill with the pen is so well known as not to need commendation, has a desk in the Holton house parlors where every afternoon from 2 to 5, she is ready to execute orders in the way of visiting cards, invitations and other work in which beauty is the desideratum. Several times Mrs Thompson has publicly shown her taste and skill in resolutions which she has engrossed, and orders for artistic writing cannot be placed in safer hands.

OREGON SALMON IN NEW YORK.—In the heading to the market report of the New York Post of a late date "Prime Oregon Salmon" has a place along with "Spring Lamb Kidneys" and "New Jersey Snipe." The following remarks are made concerning our salmon "Oregon salmon may be distinguished, as they lie on the slabs, from other salmon by the number of rays in the anal fin. In Pacific salmon there are from seventeen to eighteen of these rays, in Atlantic salmon there are but eleven. Middle cuts of Oregon salmon cost 35 cents, and those not as choice 30 cents a pound." North river roe shad are quoted at 90 cents for males and $1 50 for roe shad. The display of trout is said to be small. Long island brook trout costs $1 per pound and Canadian frozen 30 cents. If trout would sell for $1 per pound here some of our fishermen would soon be millionaires.

DID NOT PAY DUTY.—Captain J. J. Cook, master of the ship Oban Bay, gave his steward a broken box of cigars to take to his friend, Mr C. Caesar, the other day. Before the steward had left the wharf he was arrested by a deputy United States inspector, on a charge of landing sea stores without a permit. The case was explained, and as the captain had given the order of course he was responsible. The result was that Captain Cook was arraigned before Judge Deady, in the United States district court, yesterday morning, on the charge named above. He entered a plea of guilty, and Judge Deady sentenced him to pay a fine of three times the value of the cigars, or $7 50. Of course the money was promptly paid and the affair ended.

SHOES WANTED.—It has been some time since the management of the Children's Home have made a call on this public for help, but just now there is urgent need for shoes for the children. The treasury has not money to buy shoes, else would not ask contributions. So if there is a family closet that contains half worn out shoes, to fit children—boys or girls—from twelve years old down to two years, let them be hunted up to-day, and sent to Malarkey's, corner Fourth and Morrison, addressed to the Home. He will see that they get to the Home on the west side accommodation train. Any of Mr. Malarkey's customers may send packages to the store by his delivery wagon, and that will save them a great deal of trouble.

COURT HOUSE CONTRACT AWARDED.—Bids for building the addition to the county court house were opened at the office of Architect Williams yesterday as follows: J. M. Merchant, $11,819; P. O. Tundin, $11,860; Sharno & Davidson, $11,982; J. R. Bridges, $11,988; Wm. Braden, $12,193; Jacobs & Bel, $12,249; J. Foott, $12,371; J. E. Smith, $12,581; C. H. DeBarg, $12,875. This addition will front on Salmon street, and in size will be 40 feet front and 56 feet deep, with two stories and basement to conform to the original building. The contract was awarded to Mr J. M. Merchant, the lowest bidder, for $11,819. The lime and cement for the construction of the building will be furnished by the county.

VERDICT FOR THE FULL AMOUNT.—Daniel Sprague got a verdict yesterday for $140 80 in his suit against Henry Meyer. This is a case where Sprague, constable of Bybee's court, closed a small cigar stand near the corner of Second and Washington streets one day last winter on an execution issued in favor of Henry Denzinger in a suit brought against George Malcolm, H. H. Lane and W. L. Miller for $75. The stand was locked up, and later Meyer or some one removed the attached goods and disposed of them for his own use without the court's permission. For this reason Sprague sued Meyer, and the jury returned a verdict in plaintiff's favor for the value of the goods.

TOO CONSIDERATE WITH SAILORS.—Captain Rogers of the American ship Tillie E. Starbuck, now in port, must be a queer sort of a skipper. He has had a Chinese cook—a very bright fellow—for a number of years, but the Celestial decided to quit ocean life a few days ago. The captain was sorry to lose the faithful servant, and so expressed himself yesterday to a friend who resides here. The friend found an opportunity to speak to the cook and urge him to stay with Captain Rogers, but with no effect, the Chinaman declaring he wouldn't go to sea with any man who made him get up before daylight in a gale of wind and cook flapjacks for the whole crew.

RESULT OF A RUNAWAY.—A team of horses attached to a buggy in which were two men ran away Monday night starting from the corner of E Park and F streets. Both men were thrown out. One of them escaped with only a few slight bruises. The other, Daniel Penny, struck the back of his head on the sidewalk and suffered concussion of the brain to such an extent that the blood gushed profusely from his nose and ears. He was removed to his room at the Campi hotel on B street between First and Second where he now is. Although his injury is very serious it is not thought he will die.

ANOTHER LA ROCQUE DEBT.—Eastman & McClure, a business firm of Hollister California, began suit yesterday in the state circuit court against George C. La Rocque to recover $300 upon a promissory note given something over a year ago. J. G. Chapman, one of the attorneys for the plaintiffs, makes affidavit to the complaint, because neither of the partners are residents of this state or here at the present time. One by one the debts which the La Rocque boys have contracted on the strength of the property coming to them, are beginning to come up for payment.

TIED UP FOR THE PRESENT.—The steamer Calliope, which plies between Portland and the Cascades, was levied upon by Sheriff Jordan yesterday and tied up to her dock. This action is taken upon a foreclosure of a chattle mortgage given by J. F. Holland to A. J. Knott for $1000 upon the former's one-third interest in the Calliope. The other two-thirds of the steamer is owned by Pope & Winch, who will have to suffer by the tying up of the boat until some one buys the third interest, that will now be offered for sale.

SUNDAY SCHOOL EXCURSION.—The Methodist Sabbath school and society have decided to go on an excursion to Multnomah falls on the 16th of May next. The elegant new steamer Telephone will be chartered for the occasion. It is expected that hundreds of our citizens will avail themselves of the opportunity of visiting that romantic spot. It is understood that the boat will take all who desire to the Cascades. Tickets $1. Children under 12 years, half price.

CHINESE BURGLARY CASE.—Ah Fook, the Chinaman who was captured by Policeman Hickey early one fine morning not long ago, in the cellar of a Fourth street residence, had a trial yesterday in the state circuit court, before Judge Stearns and a jury. The Chinaman could give no satisfactory explanation of his presence in the cellar, but something was lacking to convince the jury that the Chinaman was guilty of the crime charged. They in consequence disagreed and were discharged.

LEG BROKEN.—Joseph Rugio, an Italian employed at one of the rock crushers in the west end of the city, was severely injured yesterday by a heavy rock falling upon him while he was helping to load it upon a truck. Both bones of the left leg were broken in two places, and in one instance, a very bad external wound was formed. Dr Saylor was called to attend the wounded man and reduced the fractures, after which he was removed to his home, 114 South Sixth street.

INDICTMENTS QUASHED.—Yesterday the two indictments found by the grand jury of Clackamas county against J. B. Fithian, city editor of the Standard for libel were quashed on technical grounds. The order for the drawing of the grand jury under the new law was issued before the new law went into effect, hence any action by the body was not in due form, as the body was not in due form.

BENEFIT TO BOB GEIS.—Next Sunday the baseball players of Portland will give Bobby Geis a benefit at City View park, previous to his departure for the east. On this occasion, the Portlands will be pitted against the Stars, and an interesting game can be looked for. The Portlands' nine will be made up of Glendenning, Geis, Coulter, Egan, Brown, Edwards, Caroline and Hettish.

KEEN EARS.—One of THE OREGONIAN'S force of compositors who was a mile back of Oregon City on the Abernethy creek last Saturday morning says he heard the whistle of the steamer Telephone as she started on the excursion to the Cascades. The other "comps" think that if John had had another drink he could have heard the man on the bow sing out, "All clear, sir."

SWEET CIDER.—A countryman was peddling sweet cider around the streets yesterday. He said it was made from last year's apples, of which he had still a large stock. There is no reason to doubt the man's statement, as it is very improbable that he has any apples of his year's growth to make the cider from.

COMRADE KOUNTZ.

Reception to the Commander-in-Chief of the G. A. R.

Hearty Welcome Last Night by the Several Posts of Portland and Vicinity—The Guest's Speech—Etc

Yesterday afternoon Commander-in-Chief J. S. Kountz and Judge Advocate General Austin arrived here from Tacoma, accompanied by Department Commander Lamb and other officers of this state. In the evening a reception was tendered as per announcement at Grand Army hall by the various posts of this city, East Portland and Albina. There were also present General Nelson A. Miles, commander of the department of the Columbia, with fifteen prominent members of Ellsworth post of Vancouver, and small delegations from valley towns. The hall was crowded to its utmost capacity with veterans and their families. Department Commander F. H. Lamb presided, and called on Comrade N. S. Pierce to welcome General Kountz, which he did in a graceful speech. The guest was received with prolonged and loud cheers, and said

Comrades—I give you my most sincere and heartfelt thanks for your cordial welcome, and ladies, I am grateful to you more than I can find words to express for this genuine and hearty reception, and I hope you will believe me when I say that we accept this soldierly and fraternal greeting, not as given alone to us, but rather to the magnificent comradeship we have the honor to represent in their name, then, as well as our own, we thank you. Ladies of the relief corps of the department of Oregon, I bring you the fraternal greeting of your national president, Mrs. Kate B. Sherwood, one of God's women, whose every heart pulse beats for the old soldiers, for whom she has given years of tireless work. In addition to her vast literary labors she always finds time to hunt out and assist the needy ones among the nation's defenders, and the widow and fatherless children of the soldier who fell in battle or has died since. And, now, as commander-in-chief of this grand soldier organization, I wish to express to you my thanks for having graced this occasion with your presence in such large numbers to-night, and for the kindly assistance you are rendering the Grand Army in its work of charity.

Your organization is pledged to patriotic and loving work, and without your co-operation it would be difficult to fully carry out the second great principle of our order. As in the hour of our country's peril you nobly sustained us by your loving words of encouragement, so now, you are again united with us in the blessed work of the Grand Army of the Republic, and I say God speed your noble work. It gives very great pleasure to meet so many comrades of the Grand Army in this prosperous and beautiful city of Portland. Since leaving my home in Ohio, three weeks ago to-night, it has been my good fortune to meet many thousands of comrades in the states of Nebraska, Colorado, California, Nevada and several of the territories, and everywhere I find the same love and enthusiasm for our patriotic organization. I assure you it is, indeed, most gratifying to me.

There was never such another association as this, which is so grand and so dear to every loyal heart.

The Grand Army of the Republic may be said to be an ever burning camp fire, around which the survivors of that other army—I mean the army that saved the republic—gather to keep alive and cherish the recollections and associations of those trying days, from 1861 to 1865. This association of old soldiers is a conservator of loyalty, and teaches the rising generation lessons of patriotism, and our aims and objects are commended by all who understand them. Almost 300,000 old veterans are embraced in its ranks, and they prize it very highly and bear the strongest testimony to its grand fraternity. Our charity protects and cares for the worthy but needy soldier and sailor, and our loyalty is proven by lives of devotion to the great principles which triumphed in the war. As I have said, this organization now has upon its rolls nearly 300,000 comrades, but while the number is large, there are still many old soldiers who have not joined the order.

Your growth in Oregon has been substantial the department now numbering over 800 comrades, and I have no doubt that under the enthusiastic leadership of Comrade Lamb, your present zealous commander, you will be able to report a membership of nearly 1000 by the close of the present quarter. I would ask you to put forth every effort to make this increase of less than 200 which I will gratefully accept as Oregon's contribution to the grand total of 500,000, which I hope to report to the Portland, Maine, encampment in June.

Every old soldier who worthily wore the blue should be a member of the Grand Army, and no good reason can be given for remaining outside. It is the only representative soldier organization in the country and all are equals. As Post Commander-in-chief Beath has said, "from drummer boys to generals."

My comrades, I wish I could tell you how much this organization has already accomplished and how its blessings are every day being felt by the surviving soldiers of the war, but neither the time or the occasion will permit me to give you even a brief statement of its noble work and how many thousands of our old comrades from 1861 to 1865, would have suffered but for its existence. Let us then put forth every possible effort to bring into our ranks all those who stood shoulder to shoulder with us battling to save the grandest and freest government that ever adorned our planet, and helped to confer the blessing of liberty upon every member of the human family in this great republic.

Let us, my comrades, rally around the banner of this great comradeship, and gather into its fraternal fold every worthy soldier who wore the blue, and thus united keep forever brightly burning in our hearts the fire of patriotism under the glorious banner of fraternity, charity and loyalty. Again, my comrades, from the depths of my heart I thank you for this royal reception, which I shall always remember.

The assemblage then sang "Marching through Georgia."

Judge Advocate General Austin was next introduced and spoke for several minutes. He protested against the formation of associations known as "The Blue and the Grey." While men who fought on opposite sides during the war might associate with utmost harmony in everything else, when it came to anything so distinctively bringing back recollections of the rebellion, it was a sentimental weakness to unite the Blue and the Grey.

Miss A. R. Luse read with very fine effect a description of the battle of Mission Ridge, in which engagement Commander Kountz lost his leg. It was received with loud applause.

Captain B. B. Tuttle sang in good style "Vive l'America."

Loud calls were then made for General Miles, who made a speech of more than usual force and eloquence. He was glad to pay his respects to the commander-in-chief of the Grand Army, recognizing not only the gallant soldier, but the representative of the gallant organization. Gen Miles closed with a very appropriate allusion to General Grant, who, he hoped, would live many years to enjoy the fruits of his patriotism and that of the Grand Army.

After the speeches the comrades with their wives and families were presented to the commander-in-chief, and some time was spent in conversation, after which the assembly dispersed.

During the evening Comrade G. E. Caukin presented the hall committee with a fine engraving of Lincoln, surrounded by prominent generals and officers of the army and navy, to be hung in the hall.

VANCOUVER ITEMS

VANCOUVER, April 28

Our Vancouver lumber mills are doing a fine business. Mr Palmer, also the proprietor of the Lucea mills informs us that he is employing on an average fifteen men daily at Lucea mills, sawing about 20,000 feet daily. He is loading a large flat with lumber for his Alkali, Or., yard, and will this week have it towed to the Cascades, and when loaded will have about 150,000 feet.

A word in time to the drivers of fine Portland carriages on to and off of our Vancouver ferry may save us giving a serious item. Last Sunday while Smith's stages were aboard there were also many carriages, and some of them were in too great a hurry to rush off the boat, and an awful collision was imminent. There is a captain and engineer on the ferry, but they can't look after the careless conduct of drivers of carriages. The stages are well handled, and no trouble will ever come from that quarter. We are still hoping to see the ferry run directly across the river to the reservation. The travel is increasing, and much time can be saved. Carriages bound for Vancouver and La Camas can find a pleasant drive at this season of the year. When the change is made some new houses will surely be erected east of the garrison grounds.

Immigration to the county is on the increase. But here is an instance of emigration. Recently a family of fourteen Virginians arrived, bound for the Battle Ground country of Clarke county. Passing the garrison, where Colonel Hunt was drilling his regiment, Fourteenth infantry, one woman, in a state of excitement, sang out, "Great Jehovah! do see the Yanks!" This recalls old war days when we used to be met by remarks on the march similar in sentiment, "What are yo-uns come down hyar to fight wee uns." This colony took a look at our county, and were at once so disgusted that they were on their return to Virginia in just four days. "No Kee-cake here." But this is the only instance of the kind. In the vicinity of La Camas the county is rapidly filling up. Fine inducements are offered to settlers by Manager Stearns, of the colony. The steamer Traveler passes by our city daily between Portland and La Camas, carrying immense loads of freight and many passengers for that place. It took up last night 200 barrels of lime and stock for the new paper mill.

BRIEF MENTION

Berlin lady orchestra at the Tivoli to-night.

Lottie Hayes died at St. Vincent's yesterday of consumption. The funeral will take place from De Lin's to-morrow afternoon.

J. H. Carney, one of the best known steamboat and railroad agents in these parts, began service yesterday as station agent here for the Northern Pacific.

The Iowa press association will leave Council Bluffs for Portland June 8. They come over the Short Line. The Colorado press association will leave about July 17.

General Miles is making arrangements to build a telephone line from this city to Vancouver. If this is done, the line will be extended to La Camas and Vancouver.

Editor Halloran of the Astorian wishes it understood that he is not authority for the statement that Dr Cabaniss has been appointed Indian agent vice Gov. Newell, as was reported.

F. K. Williams of Vacaville, California, desires information concerning Thomas Cummings, who came to Oregon about twenty years ago. Cummings is married to a daughter of Folly Jones, in Iowa.

Fifty-nine immigrants applied to the state board Monday, and thirty-six were ticketed to interior points. Forty-five applied yesterday and twenty-eight were ticketed. To-day over 100 new comers are due on the two eastern roads.

The person who mailed a rather expensive pair of baby shoes yesterday and prepaid the exact postage is informed that they will reach their destination much quicker if he or she, as the case may be, will call at the office and write the address upon the package, which was evidently forgotten in the haste of mailing.

Yesterday, in Department No. 2 of the state circuit court, Judge Stearns made an order winding up the affairs of W. P. Cameron & Co., of East Portland, insolvent debtors. The assignee, R. C. Bantley, had presented his accounts, which were examined by the court and found to be correct. Hence he was released with his bondsmen, who had gone security for him in the sum of $6000.

THE STAGE.

THE NEW MARKET.—The excellence of Baird's minstrels is the talk among amusement lovers, and everybody who wants to laugh will see them before the week is out. It is somewhat remarkable that a company presenting no new features should come in for so much praise, and the fact can be accounted for only on the ground that what there is is the best. All the acts work up to a sort of climax, and before the audience is quite through enjoying one of the specialties, another equally good is presented, and the ball keeps rolling rapidly to the close. Everything goes like clock-work under the stage direction of Theodore Jackson. It may be interesting to say that since the death of Geo. W. K. Griffin, which occurred two years ago, Mr Jackson is the oldest interlocutor in the profession. He is a nephew of the veteran Sam Wells and replaced him at Maguire's opera house in 1868. The engagement of the minstrels is limited to this week.

THE CASINO.—It is the impression of the clientele of the Casino, after seeing more than one performance of "The Royal Middy," that the opera has been badly cast, that the talent of the new company has not been put to the best advantage. No small part of the regular patrons of the Casino saw Emelie Melville produce the "Middy" at the New Market four years ago, with herself in the title role, Gracie Plaisted as the queen, Max Freeman as Dom Jannario and Tom Casselli as Mungo. There is a general desire to have Louise Lester play Fanchette and Edwin Stevens do the Brazilian millionaire. THE OREGONIAN does not presume to teach any manager the details of his business. The attendance is, after all, the only true index of the merit of a performance and it is certain if the change above suggested should be made the audiences during the remainder of the week would be much larger.

A STATEMENT CONTRADICTED

PORTLAND, Or. April 28, 1885

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The WEEKLY OREGONIAN of April 24, published an article from an eastern paper, relating to a "revelation" said to have been received by Miss Frances E. Willard, regarding woman suffrage. A similar article appeared in a daily of last week. Please give space in both daily and weekly to the accompanying letter, from Miss Willard's secretary. MRS. H. K. HINES

EVANSTON, April 15, 1885

Dear Sister—We take the opportunity to call your attention to two or three important things.

First, all friends of the W. C. T. U. will be in haste to contradict a most absurd and annoying telegram sent out from Hillsborough, Ill., either by some crank or some vicious person, whose object evidently was to impose upon the Alton Presbytery, to annoy and injure Miss Frances E. Willard, or to make political capital—perhaps all.

It represented that Miss Willard, claiming a divine revelation, had addressed the Presbytery lately in session at Hillsborough, urging them to make work for woman suffrage a part of their plans. Miss Willard has claimed no revelation, communicated with no Presbytery. The telegram is false in every particular, and should be denounced at once by every friend of truth.

Yours sincerely, ANNA GORDON

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

WASHINGTON.

Vashon island contains 280 inhabitants.

It is expected a gap of seventy-five miles only will remain between Yakima and Tacoma, on the Northern Pacific line, by July 1.

Mrs. Sadie Coyle has been appointed treasurer of Douglas county, W. T., to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the former incumbent.

Thursday, a 2-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. William Catron, living near Huntsville, was accidentally drowned by falling into a watering trough.

A gentleman from the Peshastin mines says the Huntington mill was started by Mr. Johnson on Thursday. The stamp mill is running also, and some nine tons are worked in twenty-four hours. Both mills are running on Humming Bird rock, of which there is some 150 tons at the dump and the mill. During the two days' run they cleaned up $260. The outlook for a good season's work is very favorable.

Yakima Signal: Placer and quartz strikes between Yakima and Ellensburg are causing considerable comment. At the latter point the demand for gold-pans and quicksilver exceeds the supply. A party of ten Chinamen, mining at Priest rapids, shipped to the San Francisco mint, via Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express, forty ounces of gold dust, the result of less than three weeks' work. A good quality of silver quartz has been discovered in the Natchess canyon, two and a half miles from North Yakima. A specimen piece of the rock assayed nearly $503 to the ton. Ten dollars was refused for a gold nugget picked up last week at the mouth of Pesto creek. Tuesday a miner created some excitement at North Yakima in showing a well-filled pouch of Yakima river gold-dust. It is worth $17 50 an ounce, while Columbia river sells for $15 50 an ounce.

OREGON

Diphtheria has appeared in Jackson county recently.

Several ledges bearing free gold have been found near Ashland recently.

Slight damage was done to the cherry and prune crop near Zena, Polk county, by frost last week.

Two inches of snow fell at Bonanza, Klamath county, the other day, but only survived a few hours of the morning sun. It was a benefit to the grain crops.

The spring clip of wool in this county is larger this year than usual—the warm, summer-like weather in February and March induced more shearing than usual.

J. R. Shaw was accidentally shot at Puckett's ranch, near the Linkville stage road, one day last week while hunting deer. He drew his rifle toward him by the muzzle, when it went off, the bullet entering the left hand and injuring it seriously. Amputation may be necessary.

Tolls have been reduced on the road between Yreka and Delta in order to offset the reduction in freight rates over the Oregon & California road. The toll road owners and the hotel men on the California wagon roads are determined to prevent the Siskiyou merchants from shipping by the Oregon route, if possible, but many of the merchants have already made arrangements to ship this way over the shorter wagon road.

IDAHO

In Boise valley last Saturday night it is estimated that $100,000 worth of fruit was killed by the cold.

Three inches of snow fell at Grangeville on the 17th inst., and the heavy frost killed most of the cherries, plums and peaches.

James Crooks accidentally shot himself through the legs, April 20, at Grangeville. He took his pistol off and threw it on the lounge, when it was discharged, and the ball passed through the thighs of both legs just below the hips. Mr. Crooks died last Tuesday.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL [illegible]

COMMERCIAL.

TUESDAY, April 28.

Weather clear and warm.

Overland receipts [illegible] sugar [illegible] coffee [illegible] oysters [illegible] lard, 133 bxs nails.

The Columbia took out 700 cs salmon from Cutting & Co and 170 cs from G. W. Hume.

San Francisco advices of late last week say there is every probability of a short wheat crop in California. Wheat is not looking as well as was hoped and the acreage this year has been [illegible] by the unfortunate result of harvesting the two previous crops. It is therefore unlikely that there will be an average yield even with favorable weather. Exactly what an average yield is cannot be stated definitely but it is probable a crop of [illegible] tons would not be considered [illegible] which allows about [illegible] tons for export. Many do not look for more than 600,000 tons for export this year but there will be a carry over stock of between 200,000 and 300,000 tons which with the new crop will give employment to a good sized fleet even if the unfavorable predictions be realized. Crop prospects have undergone no change for the better in the period since the above view was presented and with continued dryness the prospect [illegible] less favorable to a good yield.

A significant feature of the exports of petroleum from New York lately has been the shipment of a full cargo of refined to Cronstadt, Russia. It is over two years since any previous shipments have been made to that port, and the only other exports to Russia during that period comprise a cargo to W[illegible] in J[illegible] last, and one in August to Riga.

The aggregate supply of wheat in sight in the United States (exclusive of California and Oregon) and Canada April 25 was [illegible] bushels wheat and [illegible] bushels corn and a year ago an aggregate of [illegible] bushels wheat and [illegible] bushels corn [illegible] that of corn 10,887,200 bushels against on the preceding weekly exhibit an aggregate of [illegible].

PRODUCE RECEIPTS.—Last 48 hours: [illegible] wheat [illegible] bbls flour [illegible] oats [illegible] bran [illegible] potatoes [illegible] hides [illegible] eggs [illegible] butter. Also [illegible] bbls flour [illegible] barley [illegible] bran [illegible] wool [illegible] hides from the eastern section.

FREIGHTS.—Owners entertain high views and it is a question whether iron would accept less than 4[illegible] figure that is beyond shippers' reach. The owners of the iron bark Allahabad have of late been looking about for a wheat cargo without success and the vessel has been withdrawn for the purpose, it is said, of taking forth freight later on. Future cargoes will doubtless be made up of flour [illegible] new wheat comes in.

WHEAT.—The foreign [illegible] standing and Liverpool is [illegible] the turn dearer. San Francisco rules firm. Our own market develops nothing of new interest, extreme views preventing anything like fair trading. A cargo of Walla Walla now going into iron ship sold yesterday at 75 3d, which would not indicate a very brilliant market for shippers if compelled to pay 40s for a vessel. On this basis present asking rates are out of the question as far as export is concerned.

FLOUR.—Agents for standard brands advanced prices 25c to $4 50 to-day under wheat market pressure. The local call for flour continues good.

OATS.—Arrivals offered on this market have found ready sale and the demand is hardly satisfied. A choice feed lot would easily bring 45c and possibly a fraction better.

POTATOES.—No demand of moment and the market is demoralized. The best figure for Garnet Chiles. New California sell at 50@$1 in San Francisco.

ONIONS.—Only a local trade doing. New California are selling in San Francisco.

CHICKENS.—Choice sold up to $5 50 this morning under rather lighter receipts.

EGGS.—In better feeling with 1[illegible] obtained to-day.

WOOL.—Movement freer. No sales of eastern Oregon noted above 16c, but a fancy clip would doubtless bring 16½@[illegible] figures hardly safe to quote.

The Boston Shipping List of the 18th inst. says: It is remarkable how the wool business keeps up so far as sales are concerned, the transactions of the week amounting to 2,130,800 pounds and during the sixteen weeks since the first of January last have averaged about 2,500,000 pounds per week. Wool has [illegible] during that time, the receipts of foreign and domestic for the week amounting to near 2,000,000 pounds. The supplies continue to be abundant notwithstanding the season for old wool is fast drawing to a close, and supplies of new are near at hand. Some desirable kinds are sold close up but manufacturers find no trouble in obtaining all they want and with the 300,000,000 lbs new wool more or less to come upon the market during the next three months there is an abundant supply to fall back upon. There is wool enough and if buyers will only be patient and keep firm in the interior until prices settle down on a reasonable basis and become more equalized trade will start off healthier than it did last year. We can see no advantage in buying wool in the interior when it could not be resold at cost on the seaboard.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Government bonds quiet, steady and unchanged. Stocks were extremely dull and failed to develope a single feature of interest except the strength displayed in quotations. Every effort to reduce prices has been stubbornly resisted. Closing figures this evening in most cases were at a small fraction higher than final quotations yesterday. With few exceptions however the gains are for only ⅛ to ¼ but there are only four or five stocks that show any loss and these for small fractions. Fluctuations in no case amounted to as much as 1 per cent. The highest prices of the day generally ruled in the first hour during which over one third of the day's business was transacted. After a slight reaction the market became very dull and prices steady and so continued until the close.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The bark [illegible] Starbuck has hauled down to [illegible] and will begin loading in a day or two.

The [illegible] dropped down to the Portland mill this morning to await [illegible]

[illegible] port and at Astoria are plentiful with no prospect of early business.

The steamer [illegible] reports the ship Valley Forge and bark Ellis [illegible] at Tacoma April 2. The arrival of the Valley Forge had not been telegraphed.

The [illegible] Mikado cleared hence for Panama but put into San Francisco Sunday probably for orders because of the trouble on the isthmus.

The sidewheel steamer Olympia will soon leave Tacoma for San Francisco in charge of Captain Ackley. She will go into the dry dock for overhauling.

The prospect of war abroad is being brought to the attention of San Francisco steamship owners in a pleasant way. Negotiations have been opened for the sale to the British government of the steamers Alameda and Mariposa and it is said Russian agents have also been sounding the owners of the same steamers and also have made overtures for the purchase of the Mexico.

Underwriters are charging three fourths of one per cent war premium on British ships out of San Francisco which brings the charter rates of American wood and British iron vessels nearer together than has heretofore been the case.

The Columbia reached San Francisco at [illegible] A. M.

British [illegible] China, hence December 14 with wheat, has arrived out in a passage of 120 days.

Mary W. Crowell of Boston has [illegible] the ship Helicon for $[illegible] from the estate of Albert P. Clark.

The fleet of Russian merchant vessels at New York consists of three ships and two barks. This is the largest number of Russian vessels that has been here at one time for years. They are making preparations to haul up for the Anglo-Russian situation is yet uncertain. They fly their colors daily from sunrise to sunset.

THIS IS BETTER.

Tennyson's "Ode on the Fleet," as printed heretofore was badly mutilated by telegraphic transmission. We therefore reprint it in its reconstructed form.

You, you, if you have failed to understand
The fleet of England is her all in all
On you will come the curse of all the land
If that old England fall
Which Nelson left so great.

This isle, the mightiest naval power on earth,
This one small isle, the lord of every sea—
Poor England, what would all these votes be worth?
And what avail thine ancient fame of free,
Were thou a fallen state?

You, you, who had the ordering of her fleet,
If you have only compassed her disgrace,
When all men starve, the wild mob's million feet
Will kick you from your place,
But then too late, too late.

THE GATES OF HERAT

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN.

Your commendation of the book entitled "The Russians at the Gates of Herat," which you had seen in advance sheets, impels me to refer to Dr Lindsley's lecture on the "Eastern Question." The coincidence of views between the author and the lecturer is very remarkable. Dr Lindsley must have derived his conclusions from independent investigation since he could not have seen the book in question. Some of your synoptical paragraphs read as though they were composed by the lecturer himself.

Sheridan and the Planter

During the forenoon of April [illegible], in hot pursuit of Lee's troops, General Sheridan was riding near the establishment of a Virginia planter. Dismounting he tied his horse and strolled up the walk. Upon the piazza sat a typical Southerner with long straight hair combed behind his ears and covering his neck, a swallow tailed coat, buff waist coat, nankeen pantaloons and morocco slippers. A gorgeous shirt frill adorned his bosom and from the [illegible] of his warlike collar he shot defiant glances. He bowed stiffly to the general who, nodding carelessly, sat down on a step and pored over his maps. Soon he looked up and the following [illegible] ensued: Sheridan—"Have you seen any of Lee's troops about here to-day?" Planter—"[illegible] say that some have been seen [illegible]" [illegible] Sheridan [illegible] Buffalo river [illegible] Appomattox [illegible] "How long have you lived here?" [illegible]

The Queen's Wooden Beds.

London Truth.

The queen always sleeps in a wooden bed of a particular shape and made up in a special way, and whenever her majesty goes to a strange place a bed and its furniture are dispatched from Windsor for her use. Two were sent off from the workshop at the castle last week, the one for the queen's cabin in the Victoria and Albert and the other has gone to Aix-les-Bains. There is already one of her majesty's beds at Darmstadt. It was sent out when she went there last year.

FROM WASHINGTON COUNTY.

The Crops Needing Rain—Something about Fine Horses and Cattle.

HILLSBORO, April [illegible], 1885.

One [illegible] I planted myself behind a spanking pair of horses and in company with Prof John Sawyer, Mr Forgan's efficient superintendent, and Mr W B Boscow [illegible] salesman of Mr R. Clave struck out to see what I could see. I examined many fields of grain and found the fall sown looking very red and yellow caused by heavy recent frosts and cold northeast winds. The spring sown grain is coming up in a very straggling manner and especially that which was sown by hand, the drilled grain doing much better. The hay crop in Washington county from present appearances does not promise much. The fruit crop is considerably damaged by the frosts; wild goose berries and grapes are almost totally ruined. Much other garden truck will have to be replanted and from the best that I can gather every appearance points to the fact that we are not going to have as good crops this year as last by about one eighth unless it rains very soon and very heavy. All among the farmers there seemed to be [illegible] buy nothing but absolute necessities for the business and my opinion is that the implement men are going to get hit this year unless there is a better outlook for a yield.

AMONG THE HORSES AND CATTLE.

A person that is tied down for six days in every week to routine work hardly knows which way to turn on Sunday lest he might infringe on someone's religious tenets. So we headed for Mr Jermer Porter's at Forest Grove. There are few better men or better judges of live stock than Porter. His reserve in giving an opinion would mislead many as to his knowledge in these matters. Mr Porter informed me that all hands were taking a rest to-day, but his stock were all [illegible]. His horses were in excellent form, especially Oregon Blossom, a little Bashaw horse which has lately had improved some half minute with but little work this year. [illegible] a thoroughbred, is looking better than for years, and Mr Porter expressed a notion to train her this year. Leaving the Grove I passed through Dilley and on to Hallett's. On the road and under a bridge we found a horse that had jumped off the bridge some twenty feet and was just in the agonies of death. He must have [illegible] worth about $[illegible]. A genuine stock breeder is a gentleman and a patron of honor in its broadest sense, and Mr Hallett and Mr [illegible] are of [illegible] look[illegible] Mr Beach's stall [illegible] mares with [illegible] feet [illegible] the [illegible] horses [illegible] they did not get some of the old horse's blood. He is looking very fine. Mr Beach has many fine mares from other counties by [illegible] from him last night. Our Washington county people are certainly drowsy of the opportunity of [illegible] they are neglecting.

Mr Hallett seems to [illegible] his business [illegible] well in [illegible]. His trainers have the best stables, barns and tools [illegible] with every necessary [illegible] together with the best track [illegible] one of the best blooded horses of [illegible] this side on the north Pacific coast. Mr Hallett is not tied to any particular family of horses, but is laying his foundation twenty years ahead of others by taking into his family of horses the very best of all [illegible] that he will not have to [illegible] for years to come. Nor are the horses all. His Jersey and [illegible] cattle are very fine, as well as other stock. Leaving Mr Hallett's I visited the farm of Mr William Tompkins and found all hands taking a rest. Mr Tompkins is a thoroughbred running horse man, and don't want any trotters until they invent a sulky that won't jolt so. Mr Tompkins has several [illegible] footed ones of his own, beside Merritt and Neville. The latter came near dying last week from a bad turn but is now fast recovering. He also has a small herd of extra fine graded cattle, and is laying the foundation for a fine stock of hogs, having recently purchased a boar whose lineage is second to none. Mr Tompkins is breeding this year a thoroughbred mare by Ophir to Glen Dudley.

Returning I called on Mr J H Tongue's stables and found that he was busily engaged this spring in building up from his plant of Hambletonians Fred Hamilton and Planter, the former showing a wonderful gait this year as well as a great uniformity of breeding qualities. He has also the old horse Glen Dudley and a thoroughbred colt of his get that is pronounced by all to be a perfect model. Like Hallett, Mr Tongue is not tied to horses. His Ayrshire cattle, Berkshire hogs and fine sheep in their breeding show great painstaking and are justly noted over the state.

"WHICH 'C' WISHES TO REMARK

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN.

The only one of the fifteen legislative republican malcontents who is able to express himself grammatically again saws the air in a two column expostulation to prove that he is not a [illegible] [illegible] apostacy to the party that gave them that little brief authority which they so abused and can never again enjoy were not false and traitorous disruptionists in their addlepated course in the last legislature.

It is useless to appeal to a republican or democrat to justify them, but if they have a following of sublimated, purified and sanctified idealists it is only to them that they can look for sympathy and or comfort in this hour of their malicious triumph and self adulatory greatness. I should like to see an attempt to marshal the hosts who would in any manner justify their course. Certainly no republican nor democrat would be of the throng, and there could only be left some fragmentary remains of mugwump visionaries to make up their Falstaff army. If the hair splitting vagaries of T. W. D. and his associates on general subjects should prevail in a legislature it would result in such differences as to thwart all legislation, for the human mind is so constituted it is impossible for any number of men to think alike on a given subject, and were it not that the theory of compromise and combination to effect the greatest good for the greatest number is conceded as a basis for reasonable men to stand upon and so constitute parties and enact laws, our country would be a pandemonium and chaos would succeed revolution. It is to this brink these fifteen conspirators would lead us. Elected as republicans to carry out the party behest as time and tradition had defined by rules as well known as an edict of common law, these traitors were advanced to positions of trust by the party without a thought that they would prove recreant to that duty. Had they been men and punctilious on points of honor, it would only have been fair and decent for these maskers to have notified their party constituents that they were independent of party affiliation. Did one of them do so? I am afraid that even T. W. D., who has more brains than all the others of them combined, forgot this strictly honorable obligation.

It is, however, useless to pursue the subject. In the judgment of every true citizen who admits the necessity of parties to uphold the body politic, these men have been recreant to duty, false to their party and stand before the bar of public opinion condemned by every honest mind as ingrates or imbeciles—the majority of the fifteen by a merciful dispensation of divine providence coming under the latter designation. And not one of them will ever have opportunity to air his vacuity in a representative capacity again until at least the lion and the jackass shall lie down together, which is as [illegible] the millenium.

GOLD, IRON AND PAPER

The following striking article is from the Oregon Vidette. We reproduce it for the purpose of calling attention to the fact that monetary science, driven from its last retreats in the eastern states, has found a safe asylum on these confines of the republic and here it is going to stick so long at least as people can pay their debts with promissory notes, their favorite paper currency. Brother Norton of the Vidette, we salute your genius. You ought to have a wider field, and you would have, but for an infamous conspiracy of the gold bugs of the world to crush you. Rothschild, Vanderbilt and all the rest know an antagonist when they see him. But Oregon will stand by you. Let us have a paper currency so cheap and abundant that everybody can have plenty of it and nobody will think it worth while to convert it, and let us turn over all the gold and silver to the effete and barbarous nations of the Old World. But we must leave the exposition to Brother Norton. He says:

If an Oregon farmer who insists on having his horses shod with gold because the shoes would then wear out as fast as he could obtain them worth from the plowing of the horses, he would be put under the care of Dr Carpenter at the insane asylum.

When he could, for one set of gold shoes, obtain iron ones that would last much longer, besides enough money to pay off his mortgage, not a neighbor of his but would vote him anything but a fool to buy gold horseshoes.

Yet the people of the United States allow a lot of Shylocks to make a gold and silver currency costing hundreds of millions [illegible] no better results than currency of paper has done.

The gold and silver could pay off the national debt, give every man employment and a home, and relieve the present financial strain by [illegible] to these nations that are foolish enough [illegible] enough to have a gold currency. [illegible] with paper currency, costing little and giving better satisfaction—would be rid of coinage [illegible] bankers' bond holding [illegible]

What fools we mortals be.

Best Armed Soldiers in the World

From the New York Graphic.

The Turkish soldiers are armed with [illegible] the finest military rifle in the world. [illegible] arms were manufactured a few years [illegible] in this country where Turkey [illegible] The contract [illegible] Providence Tool Company of Providence [illegible] for the guns [illegible] However the [illegible] and soon afterward failed. The guns however were very superior weapons. They were [illegible] the principle of the Martini-Henry rifle with which the English troops are armed, and had an additional advantage in a peculiarity of the barrel invented by a man named Peabody. The cartridges were made in New Haven and Bridgeport. These guns and cartridges were used in the Russo-Turkish war, and with them the Turks who are gallant fighters enjoyed an immense advantage over the Russians who carried the old Snyder rifle. The Snyder would not carry over [illegible] with accuracy, whereas the Turks would [illegible] Russians [illegible] and [illegible] shoot [illegible] strong distance of his foe.

WAR MEMORIES

Ex-President Hayes Reviews the Results of the War of the Rebellion.

CINCINNATI, April [illegible].—[illegible] Hayes [illegible] regiment of the [illegible] here last night [illegible] session with the following speech:

Comrades: This will [illegible] congress. I am greatly obliged to the [illegible] of the various commanderies for their kindness and charity toward me during the performance of my military duties. I trust that the acquaintances now [illegible] the fraternal regard which may date back to the meeting of this congress are to continue as long as we shall live. ### Women Organizing.

Special to Chicago Inter-Ocean.

SIOUX CITY, IA., April [illegible].—In opposition to the [illegible] of Sioux City against the strict enforcement of the prohibitory liquor law the ladies of Sioux City to the number of 1000 have united in a protest against the [illegible] of the open saloons. Nearly all the leading ladies of the city have signed this protest and the Journal of to-morrow morning will publish the paper with full list of the signers' names. The business men's protest claimed to represent $30,000,000. The ladies say that their protest represents only 68 husbands, 1[illegible] fathers and over [illegible] children. The signatures to the protest were all secured in less than twelve hours' time. The ladies say that with additional time it would have been easy to have largely swelled the list. One leading lady who was on the committee to obtain signatures said it was better than a prayer meeting.

Hon. [illegible] Cramer, Ex-Alderman, Louisville, Ky.: "I have used St. Jacobs Oil for skin eruptions and bruises and found it to be a remedy equal to the best if not better than all other liniments. I endorse it most highly."

It was an old oriental doctrine that women have no souls. More enlightened philosophy [illegible] that they have purer, finer, more exalted souls than men. But they are too often tied to feeble, suffering bodies which hinder and retard their full development. ## THE ADAMS ROBBERY

HOT LAKE, April 28, 1885.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN.

In THE OREGONIAN of April 26 I learn the United States government has commenced suit against me and my bondsmen for money stolen from me while I was collector of customs for the district of Oregon, [illegible] years ago. Your statement of the facts is correct perhaps as could be expected of one not familiar with the facts of the [illegible]. A view of the facts in the case will be of interest to many of your readers.

In 18[illegible] I had a large sum of money on hand collected from imports, and belonging to the government. I was ordered by the department to carry this money to [illegible] and deposit it with the United States assistant treasurer (Cheeseman) at San Francisco. In obedience to instructions I sailed from Astoria on the steamer Oregon, which belonged to the California Steamship Company [illegible] and in compliance with my sworn duty prosecuted for smuggling and obtained judgments before Judge Deady in sums aggregating about $14,545 in costs, almost half a million of money, one half of which belonged to me. On leaving Astoria I put my money in a trunk locked and well tied with cords. I put my trunk in my state room and watched it night and day, though I suffered with the cold, being in very poor health. I never left the room except to go to my meals and walk on deck a few minutes, when nearly frozen, always going by my room door every five minutes and never staying at the table over five minutes. My trunk contained gold, $47,500; greenbacks, $1747; demand notes, $[illegible]0, besides about $[illegible] currency belonging to me and about $[illegible] handed me by Judge Olney to pay debts he had in San Francisco, also a check on the bank of California given by Richards & McCraken of Portland for $2[illegible], making in all $77,[illegible]32. I dared not deposit the money in the steamship safe, as it would have been a disobedience of orders and as I then believed, and now believe, that if I had done so, the safe would have been robbed, and I would have lost the whole of it. I deposited the $[illegible] with Richards & McCraken contrary to orders, and knew if I lost it I would be responsible. Fortunately I saved that. On my trip to San Francisco, one Lambert, a family on board the Oregon, instigated by other parties and helped by two other thieves, went into my room while I was at breakfast, with a key that belonged to the steamer, pried open the bottom of my trunk, took out one sack of gold containing $12,[illegible] and another containing $5000, making $[illegible]. The trunk was still tied up with cords when I saw it and I never suspected it had been tampered with. I was too weak to try to lift it, and when I reached San Francisco it took two strong men to carry it from the steamer to a Russ house coach. At the Russ house I opened the trunk to deposit the money in the safe and then discovered the loss. The detectives, after much delay, were forced to run the thieves. The first one they laid their hands on went to the graveyard and dug up a tin can containing $[illegible]. The next one handed over $5500. Lambert fled to New York with a prostitute. He was there arrested, and had over $5600 in currency and about $15,000 in worthless mining stock. He was placed in a nice room upstairs, reserved for upper-class criminals, and was allowed to crawl out of a window and escape, so the New York Times said. The Times wondered why a low villain should be treated with such consideration. I understood the case better. The other two thieves were released in San Francisco on straw bail and fled to Central America. Not one of them was ever punished. Lambert in New York turned his money over to his lawyers, who held it till the government compromised with them for half the money, which was credited to me. The balance of the money, nearly $9000, a detective told me, was in the hands, as he believed, of "prominent men" in San Francisco, who, I believe, were interested in putting up the robbery. These "prominent men" wanted me removed, and a detective told me they assured him that if they (the detectives) would put up a case against me they would send me to the penitentiary all they had to do make out their bill and it would be paid. The three detectives who had charge of the case were Lees, Ellis and Watson. It was Watson who told me so.

A relief bill has been passed four times by the senate. The house committee recommended its passage, but the bill being buried knee deep under 2000 similar bills, it has never yet been reached.

The department released to the guilty parties all of the $[illegible]7,545, $1[illegible]3,772 of which belonged to me. This, added to about $3000 I spent out of my own funds to protect the interests of the government and about $[illegible] the government owes me under one of my bonds, makes the government honestly indebted to me about $1[illegible],-[illegible]72. If the department had ordered me to carry the money by stage to Washington and I had been robbed by road agents, would I have been responsible? The department instructed me to plead the limitation act whenever I could in every suit against the government. Cannot I also plead it? This suit is not begun with expectation or desire to trouble me or my bondsmen—merely to close up the old accounts, unless it be that Manning thinks I am still collector of customs and he must "turn the rascals out."

A QUICK RECOVERY.

It gives us great pleasure to state that the merchant who was reported to be at the point of death from an attack of Pneumonia has entirely recovered by the use of DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. Naturally he feels grateful for the benefits derived from using this remedy for the lungs and throat and in giving publicity to this statement we are actuated by motives of public [illegible] trusting that others may be benefited in a similar manner.
